I'm Calista Malone from Tallahassee, Florida. I graduated this past spring from Queens University of Charlotte in Charlotte, North Carolina, with a double major in creative writing and English literature. While at Queens I was a basketball cheerleader for the university, a member of Kappa Delta sorority and a community organizer with some friends for racial injustice in our small college campus community. I am excited to help support and uplift communities through their struggles, triumphs and hardships in Glasgow, Scotland, next year as a Young Adult Volunteer.
