

Catherine Perkins

Select Language

Powered by Google Translate

Support Catherine

Read Catherine's Blog

My name is Catherine Perkins. I am a 22-year-old artist/writer from Clinton, South Carolina. I just graduated from Presbyterian College with a Bachelor of Arts in English. I am so passionate about the PC(USA) and about helping the suffering in our world. My favorite concept is LOVE, which is made even more important by the love and devotion of Jesus Christ, as well as Jesus' call on our lives to love and serve one another.

I am a preacher's kid, growing up with a pastor-mom and a creative dad, I've been molded by an equality and love-driven environment. My favorite joys in life are movies, books, music, sushi, art and more movies. I have been fortunate enough to have received opportunities to see places all over the world, from the most rich and vibrant to some of the poorest areas, and in this I have been given a stronger sense of call to serve.

I love deep conversations about theology and the caring for our world. I hope to go to Atlanta with an open heart, ready to learn how to better serve the needs of the world. I hope to form lasting relationships and grow in my faith. I hope to emerge from this year a better and stronger person, and hopefully to have made a difference in some small way.