

Claire Lewis

Select Language

Powered by Google Translate

Support Claire

Read Claire's Blog

My name is Claire Lewis. I'm a recent graduate of Schreiner University with a Bachelor of Business Administration in marketing and a minor in photography. I was born and raised in the Hill Country of Texas, but I have a huge heart for traveling and experiencing different cultures! Throughout my undergraduate studies, I enjoyed being a peer minister leader, learning Spanish, taking a personal trip to Kenya and being an exchange student in Colombia. Now, I look forward to beginning this new journey in the multicultural city of Albuquerque as a Young Adult Volunteer.

As I approached graduation, I wrestled with this desire to answer the call of service and missions, while feeling the pressures to go directly into our career-driven world. My hope and desire is to use this opportunity of singleness and willingness to go, to do something unmistakably purposeful and experience an unforgettable sense of community through this dedicated year of service! I invite you to follow my blog and thank you in advance for ALL your prayers and support.