Elizabeth Reid is a graduate of Emmanuel Christian Seminary and Point University (Atlanta Christian College). While in seminary, she studied Christian theology and was drawn to liberation theologies from Africa, Latin America, and the United States. These academic interests turned practical and led her to accepting a YAV internship in Atlanta, Georgia.

Elizabeth is a missionary kid, a lover of words and things that grow in dirt. She is a Hufflepuff, an INTJ, and a connoisseur of funny animal videos of all kinds. Moving back to Atlanta feels like moving home. Elizabeth hopes that her YAV year will be a time of discovery and discernment during her transition from schooling to adulting.
