

Maura Drewry

Select Language

Powered by Google Translate

Support Maura

Read Maura's Blog

Hey y'all! My name is Maura Drewry, I am 21 years old, and I am from Greensboro, North Carolina. I will graduate in May 2017 from Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina, with a Bachelor of Science in health sciences. I am passionate about community-based public health, social justice and tending to the bodies, minds and spirits of those around me. I have been called to serve in New York City—a place rich in diversity and culture. I am looking forward to meeting people, listening to their stories and exploring where God leads me as I take this next step in my faith journey.