My name is Miguel Petrosky, I'm 22 years old (will be 23 in July), and I'm a graduate of The College of William and Mary with a bachelor of arts in government and a minor in music. My own personal goal is to be as knowledgeable as I possibly can be in all subjects, so it's no surprise for one to see me with a bag of books constantly by my side — ranging from books written by Karl Barth to some random textbook on geology. I also enjoy traveling and exploring new surroundings, playing the piano and singing. I'm also a horribly recovering coffee addict.

I'm serving at the New Orleans site — a huge change from my small hometown, nestled in the Appalachian Mountains in Covington, Virginia. After my year with YAV, I hope to work with the U.S. State Department as a Foreign Service Officer, however, I'm certainly open to God altering the direction of my life-narrative as it continues to play out.
