

Sarah Jeanne Shimer

Select Language

Powered by Google Translate

Support Sarah

Read Sarah's Blog

Hi, my name is Sarah Jeanne, and I am very excited to spend my year at the Boston Food Justice YAV site! I graduated from Colby College in Maine with a degree in religious studies and science, technology and society. I see those two majors coming together in the area of environmental ministry, which I am looking forward to exploring further this year.

I spent the last year living and working at the American International School in Salzburg, Austria, within walking distance of sights from the Sound of Music. Experiencing God's beautiful creation through traveling and spending time outdoors is one of my favorite pastimes. When I'm not planning my next adventure, I enjoy waterskiing, camping and wearing crazy socks! I am really looking forward to returning to New England, and learning more about food justice through practical experiences, as I embark on my YAV year.