

Dear friends,

We send Advent greetings to all of you, our supporters. At this time when we are planning time with family and getting ready for holiday celebrations, our hearts are warmed knowing how much support we receive from all of you our hearts are warmed. In these days when the nights get longer, the sunlight seems to wane, and we meditate on the hope of light shining in the darkness, our hearts also yearn for the hope of a breakthrough in the stalled Korean peace process. When it seems like hatred and enmity and the night are too powerful, we pray for the light of Christ to come and warm hardened hearts, bring them to the table to talk and to listen to each other, and to see each other as children of God worthy of love and deserving of peace.

Amen.

Kurt and Hyeyoung
