Please join us for a Zoom Conversation with Bruce Reyes-Chow

The Scattered Church: Pastoring the Body of Christ in a Time of Pandemic

Since March 2020, Bruce Reyes-Chow has been stumbling his way through a time of pandemic. Leading an older, progressive congregation through the rhythms of church life that also is responding to COVID-19, anti-racism uprisings and the overall political climate has led to both unhelpful over-functioning and in-depth congregational growth.

During our time, Bruce will share insights about maintaining pastoral health, embracing the courage to lead, curating meaningful worship spaces and nurturing congregational life. He will share practical ideas for maintaining congregational relationships, the appropriate use of technology, and ideas for future hybrid expressions of worship. We will have times for breakout groups and your questions, laments, joys and struggles — as we figure this thing out together.
