

Anna Bintinger

Select Language

Powered by  Translate

Support Anna

Read Anna's blog

My name is Anna Bintinger. I am from Seattle, Washington, but have spent the past four years studying linguistics and American studies (with a concentration in politics and popular culture) at Emory University in Atlanta. I have been involved with the PC(USA) my whole life and am excited to start a new chapter with the church in New York City next year. I have also been very involved in inter-religious work in college and plan on finding formal or informal ways to continue that as well. Both of these things have instilled in me a passion for service and I'm excited to continue exploring all of these things in NYC!