

Regi Jones

Select Language

Powered by  Translate

Support Regi

Read Regi's blog

My name is Regi Jones. I am 22 years old and a native of Fayetteville, North Carolina. I recently graduated from Chowan University with a Bachelor of Arts degree in religion. I have been extremely humbled by the experiences and obstacles life has thrown my way. I am passionate about social justice issues, and I find my strength in understanding how to help people reconcile differences. Our world is full of anger and contempt but I find it important to be a voice that will help people work through those feelings in the hope that they can find peace. Through this year of service I hope to grow in my ability to make meaningful relationships with people through discussion, hard work and our shared faith in Jesus Christ.