Presbyterian Disaster Assistance: South Sudan Response

CRISIS IN SOUTH SUDAN

In response to the ongoing conflict in South Sudan, Presbyterian Disaster Assistance is:

- Partnering with Foods Resource Bank (FRB) to fund a food security project in Uror. PDA will fund the first year and hopefully the subsequent years will be funded by FRB. Luke Asikoye, International Disaster Relief Associate for PDA recently visited Uror.

- Funding an emergency relief project for South Sudanese refugees in Kakuma, Kenya and Aura, Uganda in the amount of $120,000 with Presbytery Relief and Development Agency (PRDA). Luke Asikoye recently visited the IDP camps and reported that the camps are mainly compromised of majority Nuer people who fled fighting both in the Capitol Juba and other parts of Upper Nile. There is a school for displaced children in the camp.

- Providing $100,000 in emergency relief funds to PRDA in 2015/16 for the distribution of food and emergency relief items in Juba and Bentui.

- Responding as a member of ACT Alliance. PDA contributed $44,264.84 to the 2015 South Sudan, Darfur appeal that provided emergency relief assistance, including but not limited to health, nutrition and WASH (water, sanitation and hygiene) services, to IDPs in the South, East and Central Darfur.
